Dearest Mother.

I know it is dreadful of me not to write my diary letter this week again. I had fully intended to (and brought my book over too) but fear I won't. Our time seems so short and so precious that I have not written at all and it seems that when our leave is quite out of the question. We have had a wonderful week

Bank of Montreal he today and he wanted to be particularly remembered to her. He was very kind to me as I had overdraw my ac.
Thank Father for his last personal letters which sent to Maud and will answer when I return. (the hand written ones). The weather has been good and we have had a room here and to know things very quietly. Please excuse this direct letter. Very much love M

together and I simply hate to leave Sarah on Monday especially as she is going to cross. I really feel I should not let her as she dreads it so but and it does seem an unnecessary risk for the little woman to take if Mrs Brenton were younger I would not hear of it but fear that the disappointment might be serious for her. It is hard to know what is best

We saw Helen Kim and Alice Bigger yesterday, the latter's husband is out. Tell Alice I had a nice chat with Ludley Oliver manager of
