Administrative history / Biographical sketch

Western University's offer to provide a hospital unit for overseas service was officially accepted by the War Office in April 1916. At the request of the Board of Governors, Dr. Edwin Seaborn, a member of the University's Faculty of Medicine, was appointed to command the unit at the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel. Authorized for 14 officers, 27 nursing sisters and 118 other ranks, personnel recruited for the unit included faculty and alumni physicians, nurses graduated from Victoria Hospital and St. Joseph's Hospital, Western students, and area residents. Surgical and medical supplies were collected and donated to the unit by the London branch of the Canadian Red Cross. The unit embarked for England in June and August of 1916. Following a period of instruction, officers and other ranks were dispersed to various hospitals. Seaborn and some unit personnel assumed the operation of Ravenscroft Military Hospital at Seaford, Sussex in November of 1916, and of All Saints Hospital, (renamed Canadian Military Hospital) in Eastbourne, Sussex in January of the next year. Its unit strength restored in November of 1917, the unit proceeded to Calais, France to take over a 400-bed hospital in December. While in operation, the No.10 Canadian Stationary Hospital admitted over 16,000 patients. Demobilized in April, 1919, the unit returned to London, Ontario, at the end of May.

Custodial history

According to a letter filed in the Unit History series, Dr. Seaborn had custody of the hospital's records in October of 1924.

Scope and content

The fonds consists of materials related to the establishment, operation and demobilization of the No. 10 Canadian Stationary Hospital. Included are the unit's history and war diaries; official and personal correspondence; orders and official communications; financial, personnel, patient and supply records; photographs and memorabilia.

Note [General]

A Photographs series and an Objects series have been identified and described to reflect the scope of the unit's records, and a Restricted Originals series has been created by the archivist to accommodate fragile and acidic records removed from the files for conservation purposes.; 1. In June of 1917, the Lombardo Orchestra performed at a garden party held at Western University to raise funds for the hospital's Emergency Fund. Records relating to this event, including a receipt signed by Guy Lombardo, can be found in Series 21 Accounts.

2. Fragile documents have been photocopied. Originals have been removed from files and placed in the Restricted Originals series. Some originals have been duplex copied to conserve paper.

Series AFC4-S8: Correspondence

Date: 1916-1919 (creation)

Scope and content: Series consists of applications, donation letters, the correspondence of Western University President Edward Ernest Braithwaite, and the correspondence of Edwin Seaborn. The applications consist of letters from physicians, nurses and students offering to serve with the No. 10 hospital or recommending others as potential candidates. The donations letters include communications to and replies from Braithwaite concerning donations to the hospital's Emergency Fund. Braithwaite's correspondence primarily consists of letters and copies of letters to and from Seaborn about the status of the No. 10 hospital and its staff, the Emergency Fund, ward tablets, and Braithwaite's sons Lloyd and Scott, the latter of whom served with the No. 10. Some of Seaborn's letters were later edited for newspaper publication. The first volume of Seaborn's correspondence includes requests for commissions, the return of staff, addresses, and information about accommodations, the condition of patients or the whereabouts of missing soldiers; invitations; and letters from families of soldiers killed in action. The second volume consists of correspondence to Braithwaite and Lady Beck of the London branch of the Canadian Red Cross, and includes reports on the hospital's work, lists of donors to the Emergency Fund, lists of names on ward tablets, and statements of the status of Red Cross supplies and Emergency Fund receipts and expenditures.
