In order to improve access to more of the existing holdings of Western Archives copies of a number of preliminary finding aids are being made available. These preliminary finding aids, some of which were prepared many years ago, vary in degrees of completeness, detail and accuracy. Some provide only basic box listings of the contents of a fonds or a collection, while others provide additional background material. All are intended to be the starting point for access to the records and they should not be considered a definitive source of information on the full nature and contents of the fonds or collection. Questions about the information provided in the preliminary finding aids should be directed to archives.services@uwo.ca

Biographical Sketch

Joseph Seymour Fallows was born in Northfield, Worcester, England on the 7th of July, 1838. He had three brothers and one sister. At some point, Joseph came to Canada, and from around the 1860s was farming in West Nissouri Township, with the post office address of Evelyn. He was soon also involved in business, both local and international. In the 1870s he was connected with Frederick Ardell Fitzgerald (1840-?), a London oil refiner and first president of Imperial Oil on its founding in 1880. Fallows was an original shareholder in Imperial Oil, and by 1909, also seems to have been a partner with Fitzgerald in the London Furniture Manufacturing Company. His international ventures were in the sale of cattle to Great Britain, particularly Scotland. He seems to have been a local agent for area farmers, bringing a number of head together for export. He was connected with the livestock agents John Swan & Sons of Scotland and their Canadian and American agent, J. Henry Smith in Montreal as well as J. McLeod in Washington D.C. (later Wheeling, West Virginia). On McLeod’s death, Joseph administered McLeod’s estate for his wife and children.

Joseph married Catharine Keen (1834-1883), son of John (1800-1886) and Catharine Keen. They had three children: Ellen, who died in infancy in 1861; John (1863-1898); and Howard (1867 - 1946). John went to school in Toronto, was a doctor’s assistant around West Nissouri, and went to intern in Kensal, England. He became a ship’s doctor and medical companion, travelling to South Africa and Argentina and throughout Europe. He contracted malaria in South Africa and was always sickly. He died at the age of 35 in the wreck of the S.S. Mohegan off Cornwall, England. Howard, who was sickly as a child, remained in Canada and assisted his father in business, making several trips to England. At some point he took over running the family farm for which his father paid him a salary, and eventually bought it outright. He married Isabella Reavely whose nephew, Harold Reavely, was a professor at U.W.O. in the late 1950s.

Joseph Fallows’ brothers and sister remained in England. Thomas became an alderman of Birmingham in 1893 and magistrate of Birmingham, Stafford and the county of Norwich. Later, he became Lord Mayor. He married, and had three children: Arthur, Ada, and Jessie. Howard, Joseph and Thomas’ younger brother, was lame and never in good health. He married and had one daughter, Florie. The sister died at the age of 40.
Custodial History

The papers have been in the Regional Collection since the 1950s, although the exact date of acquisition is unknown. According to the former archivist, the papers were probably donated by a family member. A possible donor is Harold Reavely, the nephew of Howard and Isabella Fallows, and a professor of geology at U.W.O. in the late 1950s. It is unknown what condition the papers were in when they arrived, but various people have worked on organizing them into the present order. The Regional Collection has no record of the acquisition.
