

Learning and Food Zones*

Learning Zones: allow you to choose the best study area for your needs, while minimizing disturbance to others.

Zone	Expectations	Benefits	Cautions
 Quiet Study Zone	Quiet group study in small groups; cell phones set to vibrate, music with headphones	Work productively in the presence of others with some noise and distraction	Low-volume conversation is fine, but no loud noise, music, socializing, or rowdiness

Food Zones: protect valuable library collections.

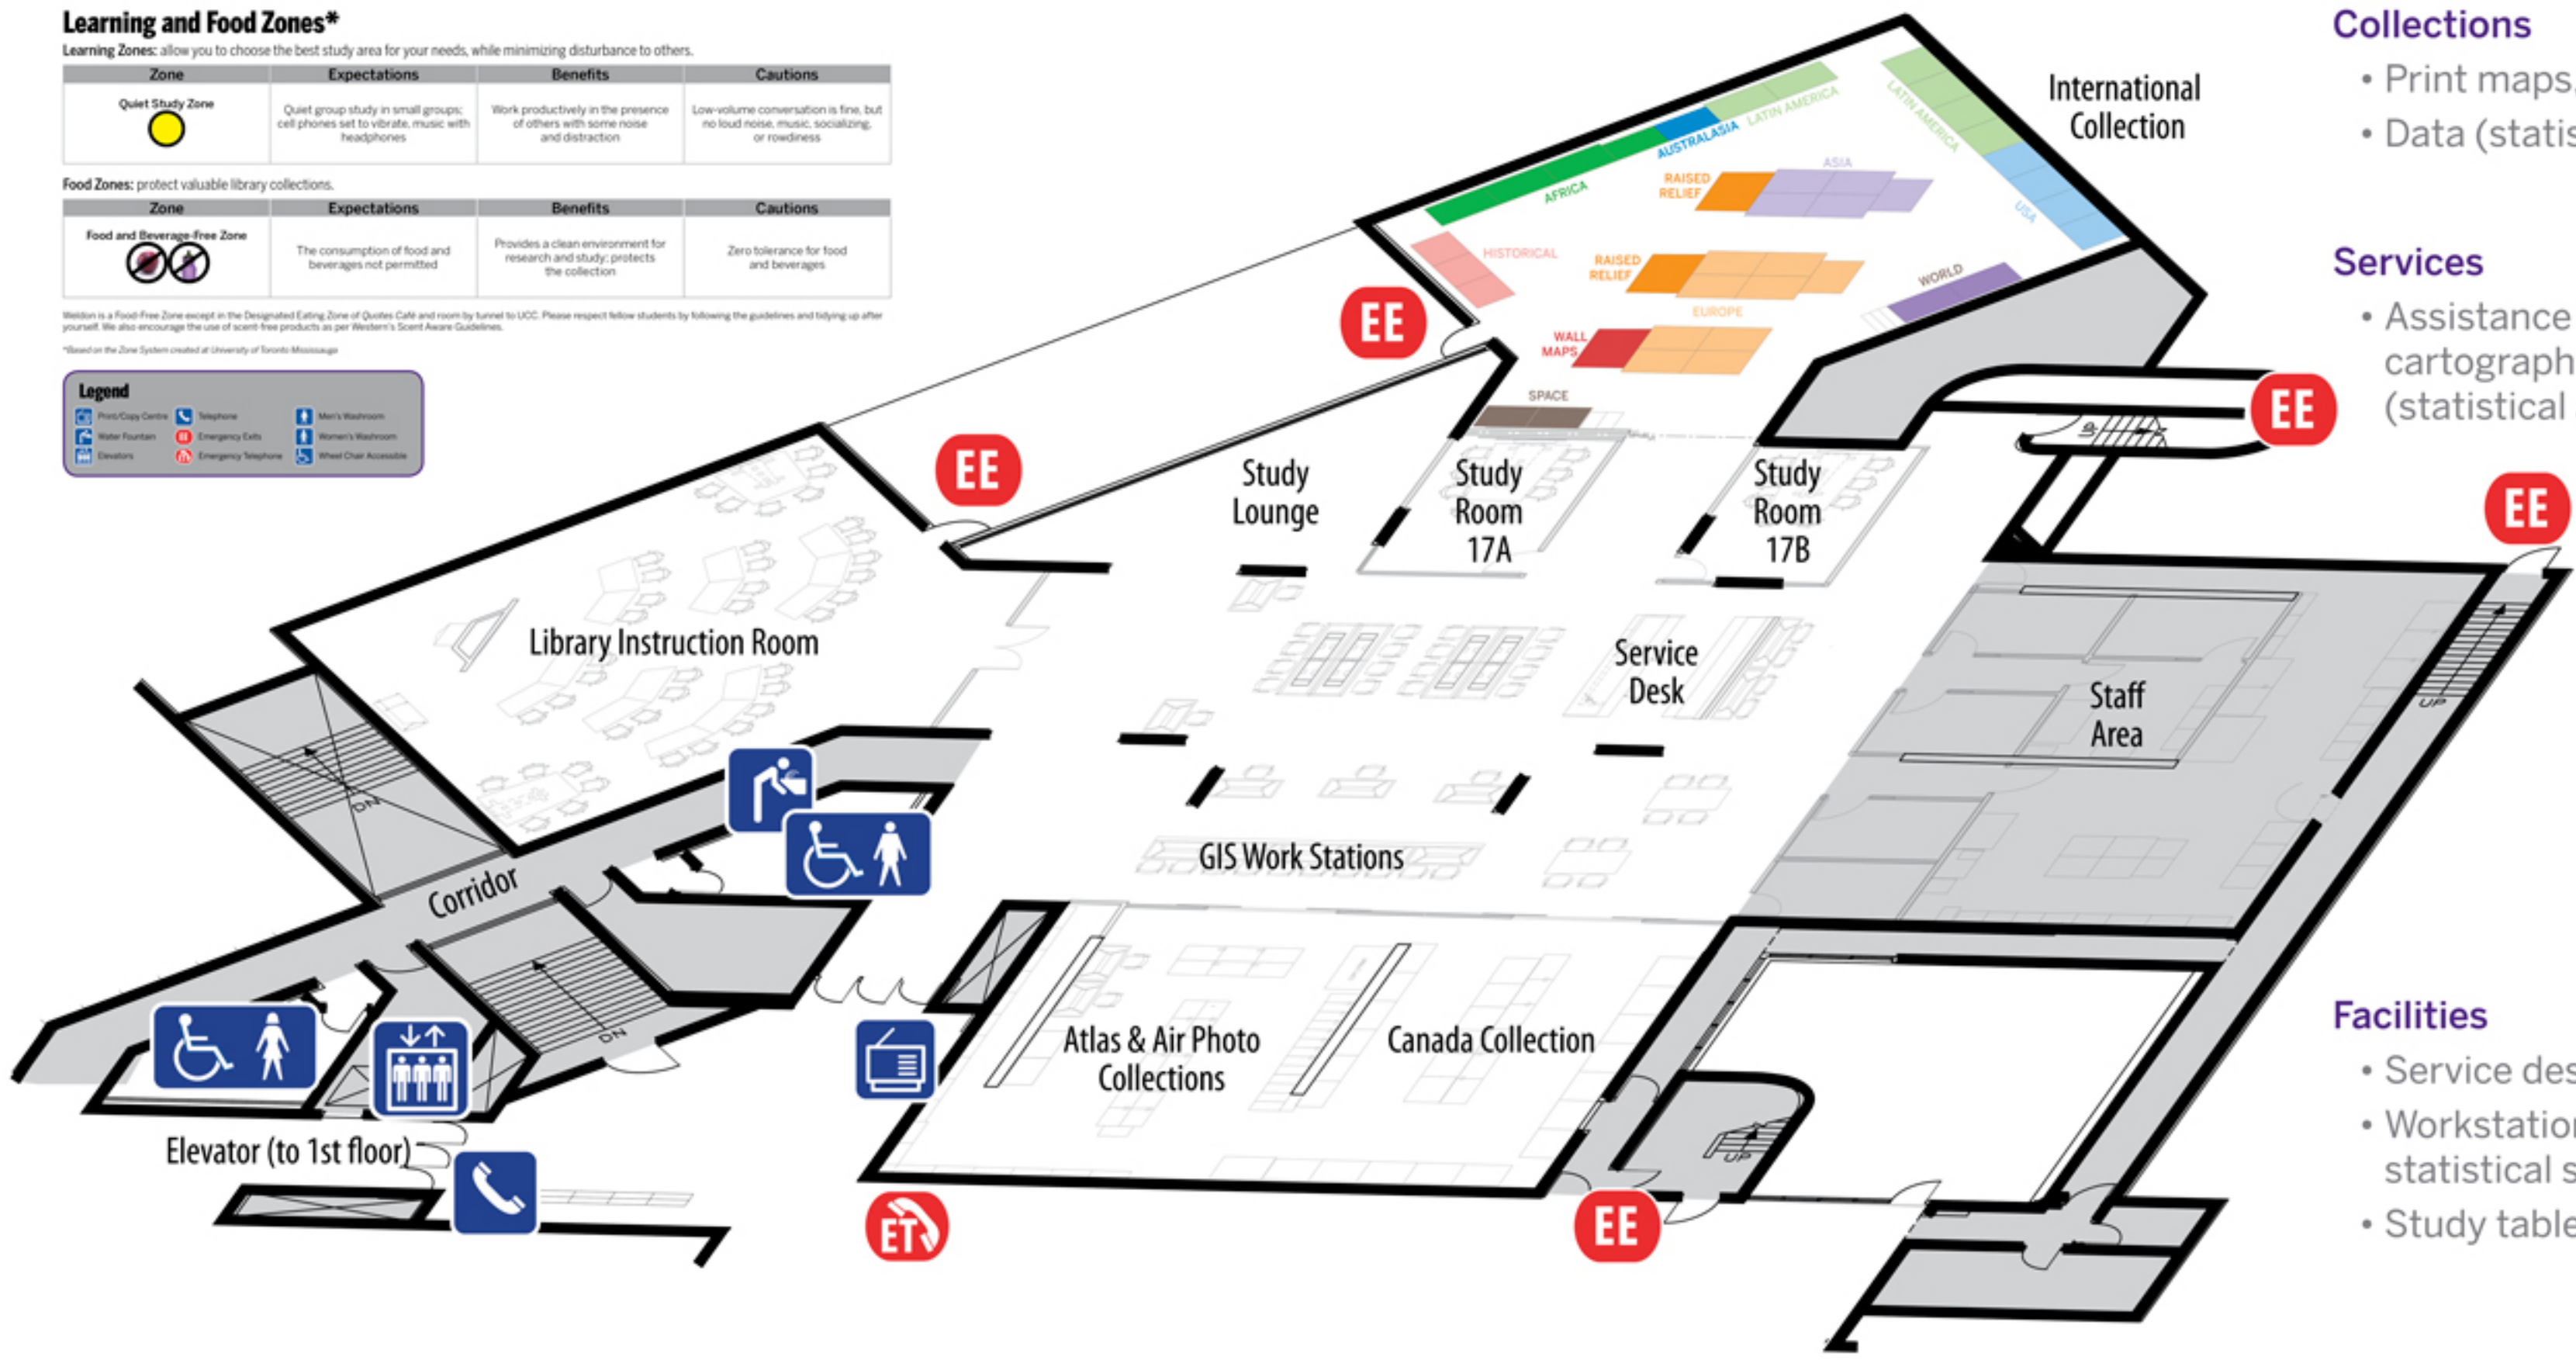

Zone	Expectations	Benefits	Cautions
 Food and Beverage-free Zone	The consumption of food and beverages not permitted	Provides a clean environment for research and study; protects the collection	Zero tolerance for food and beverages

Western is a Food-Free Zone except in the Designated Eating Zone of Quikies Café and room by tunnel to UCC. Please respect fellow students by following the guidelines and tidying up after yourself. We also encourage the use of scent-free products as per Western's Scent Aware Guidelines.

*Based on the Zone System created at University of Toronto Mississauga
